Local

Missionaries and church planters move with their families to areas where they don't know anyone. They must make new friends and learn the new area. Their children must make new friends at school. Anyone who has ever moved knows that life in a new place can be very lonely at first. Teach your children to reach out as a friend to people they don't know, whether they be adults or other children.

Assign the children in your group the task of finding someone in your church they do not know. Children will introduce themselves in this way, "My name is [child's name]. I don't believe I have ever met you."

You may want to have practice introductory sessions with the children before sending them out in your church. After they have met someone new in your church, assign them the task of finding someone new at their school to befriend. Tell them that the best way to eventually be able to talk about Jesus with a person is to first become a friend.

Have children report regularly on their progress in making new friends and having an opportunity to invite them to church and children's activities. Tell them they are missionaries in the making. They are living life on mission.

Connect with a Miami church planter

Many times new church plants need tangible help with supplies for ministry evangelism events such as block parties, VBS, food pantries, etc. These are some things your children may be able to help new churches acquire. Go to namb.net/miami, and click on the Mobilize Me button to learn how your group can partner in a church planter's ministry to the lost in Miami.

Children may also want to write letters of encouragement to church planters and their families. Contact the North American Mission Board in one of the following ways to learn how and who:
