Help Prevent a Famine

Farmers in rural Uganda were struggling with both the theft of cattle and the rampant spread of disease among their herds. This forced families to plow and harvest their fields by hand. That's when Send Relief stepped in to provide cattle for families.

"Our people have food today because of the cattle and our work," a local Send Relief partner said. "Families were finally able to harvest their beans, corn and sorghum to feed their children over the next year. Praise the Lord—through Send Relief, we were able to stop a famine from happening in our area!"

Care for Refugees

new!

Den is four, and Dimi is two. These boys are among the two-thirds of Ukrainian children who were forcibly displaced from their homes in the first months of the Russia-Ukraine war. Along with their parents, they fled their village before it was attacked with just a few belongings. They made it to an aid station at the border and lived in a Romanian church with hundreds of refugees. Send Relief equipped this church to purchase bedding, food, puzzles and toys for the children. The man who directed the family to the church told them, "I'm sorry for what is happening in Ukraine. We don't know why it is happening. We would like to offer our love to you because Jesus loves you."

Respond to Crisis

Around the world, Send Relief responds to crises—including supporting Southern Baptist Disaster Relief (SBDR) teams as they respond to tornadoes, hurricanes, wildfires and floods. Last year, Kentucky was hit with more than 7.5 inches of rain in less than 24 hours. The entire state experienced historic levels of widespread flooding.

“The need was great, and it opened the door for us to reach out with the compassion of Christ and the hope of the gospel,” says Send Relief Crisis Response Director Coy Webb.

Send Relief supported SBDR teams from Kentucky, South Carolina, North Carolina, Missouri and Alabama as they came together to provide flood recovery, shower and laundry units, water purification and feeding units to the communities most devastated—including supplying about 3,000 meals a day.

Protect Children and Families

The abandonment of babies is a tragically common occurrence in Kenya. Many families are faced with malnutrition, lack of access to clean water sources and generational poverty. This prevents them from caring for newborns well. Unfortunately, the pandemic has increased the number of babies being abandoned.

Send Relief partners have been operating a home for abandoned babies since 2012—the only one of its kind in the region. It is a safe haven for undernourished and HIV-positive newborns and special needs children who have been discarded by their parents.

Infant formula is a necessity that Send Relief provides, along with food, medical care, clothing and lots of love for each child.

Clean Water

In a country in Southeast Asia, a large number of people were forced to flee war but were turned away at the border of a neighboring country. They had very few possessions. Send Relief partners delivered 200 ceramic water filters to refugees desperate for clean water.

As he accepted the water filter, one of the refugees said, "Now when we run from the fighting, I can carry this. My family will have water to drink, clean water. Wherever we go, we can drink, because of you."
