Meeting Needs, Changing Lives

Throughout the world, people are hurting. The enormity of the needs makes it easy to feel overwhelmed. But you can do something!

A partnership between the International Mission Board and North American Mission Board, Send Relief is here to help you make an impact in your community and beyond. With ministry partners on the ground in dozens of countries, your gifts meet physical needs and share the hope of the gospel all over the world.

We live in a world longing for peace.

Right now, you can share peace through the Send Relief Gift Catalog. These tangible gifts of love will open the door to share the ultimate peace: Jesus Christ.

Every item in the gift catalog is an example of ways that you can meet needs and change lives through Send Relief.

These days have been challenging for everyone. Your resources—both time and financial—are more valuable than ever. I am so grateful for all that you have already done to reach people around the world with practical help and the hope of the gospel. Together, I know we can share Christ's love and goodwill to people around the world.

Thank you for your generous spirit. Know that you are loved and appreciated. As we approach days like no other, let us do so with peace like no other.

"Now may the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace as you believe so that you may overflow with hope by the power of the Holy Spirit." (Romans 15:13)

In Christ,

Bryant Wright, Send Relief President

SHE CAN

In many developing countries, women are treated as less than—devalued by society, culture and in many cases, even their own families.

One housewife, Camila, had very little formal education and was given away as a child bride at age 14 before living a life riddled with poverty and tragedy.

A simple gift of a goat enabled her to start a successful business, and she was able to buy a sewing machine.

With her new equipment, she started a tailoring business and eventually grew to be an influential member of her community—all because of one goat!

Help more entrepreneurs like Camila overcome difficult circumstances by donating livestock and giving to Send Relief's agricultural efforts!

LEARNING TO BE FAMILY

Forget nine months of prep—Grace had just enough time to run to the store and buy a car seat before she was introduced to her first foster son. Then they started the hard work of learning to be a family.

Foster care is perhaps one of the most powerful examples of Christlike love that we have. Children like Grace's son are often removed from their homes so suddenly that they don't have clothes, toys or any remnants of their former life.

Through Send Relief, you can give tangible gifts that tell a hurting child they are loved.

I WAS HUNGRY

“Frankly, the students were just not eating.”

That’s what one Send Relief partner discovered when he began building relationships with kids in his Atlanta neighborhood.

Especially on weekends when school-provided lunches weren’t available, some kids simply did not have food until the next Monday.

“We were losing the right to share the gospel because we were letting physical needs go unnoticed, and we decided that was unacceptable,” he said.

Our partner started a program that was able to give students two breakfast items, two lunch items, two snacks, a vegetable and a fruit for the weekend.

You can be a part of the solution by providing a child in need with healthy meals!

Respond to Crisis

SHAKEN AWAKE

It was 4 a.m. when 10-year-old German Figueroa was shaken from sleep.

"I never felt an earthquake before," he says.

For German and other kids in Puerto Rico that night was just the first of many like it. They live in a world of emergency whistles and aftershocks and disaster drills.

10,000 people lost their homes in January's earthquake, plunging Puerto Rico (an island recently rocked by a devastating hurricane) into another state of emergency. Send Relief was able to respond almost immediately with a disaster relief team who delivered blankets, flashlights, batteries, non-perishable food boxes and general relief supplies.

Scott, one of the responders, was shocked by what he saw upon arrival, and began to help teachers who were conducting class in open-air "school rooms" with over 300 displaced kids. Soon, he was helping with recess and Sunday schools. That's where he met German. They quickly became friends.

Because Scott knew the signs of childhood trauma, he was able to help German process what he had lived through and begin healing from the loss he experienced.

WHEN HOPE SEEMED LOST

COVID-19 devastated the already-impooverished village Noa called home. She, her impaired husband and their seven children faced life-threatening hunger. The government-imposed quarantine eliminated income-earning opportunities, leaving them few, if any, options for survival.

Because of the generosity of donors, Send Relief was able to partner with a local church and distribute food and the gospel to nearly 80 of the hardest-hit families in Noa's Middle Eastern village.

More than food, though, Send Relief partners were able to share with these families the truth of God's love.

THEY HAVE NAMES

“I have a name...I have a purpose, [and] the church’s after school program taught me to accept myself.”

Fatmata is just one of many children who Send Relief partners are helping adjust to life in America through after-school tutoring programs. Many refugee children struggle to acclimate into the education system because they come straight from fleeing a conflict zone or living in a refugee camp for most of their childhoods to being plugged into a fourth-grade classroom. Their parents often don’t speak the language well and can’t help them with homework, so the kids are left to navigate with little direction.

Send Relief’s goal in growing these programs all over North American churches is to give refugee children an equal opportunity to grow and thrive by providing them with a community to walk alongside them as they face challenges. But our work doesn’t stop there!

Send Relief is working in countries in conflict all over the world to restore hope to refugee families who were forced to leave their homes because of conflict, disease, disasters or political unrest. Because the needs of refugees differ from country to country, we are always finding new ways to support our displaced brothers and sisters.

One group of Central African migrants were struggling to cope with their new host country’s cold weather. These families were wearing multiple layers of clothes throughout the day and lying awake all night trying to stay warm. Because of your generosity, we were able to provide over 200 of these refugees with the blankets they needed to survive the winter.

When you give to care for refugees, you will help even more families find the resources they need!

PRECIOUS SURVIVORS

A Send Relief partner in South Asia is dedicated to helping rescued survivors of human trafficking rediscover their self-worth, experience hope and begin to rebuild their lives. The home is just one of the many shelters supported by generous donors through Send Relief. Each of these havens is committed to the restoration of rescued victims—mind, body and soul.

Send Relief is committed to helping victims move beyond the nightmare of trafficking that they endured. Similarly, the Baptist Friendship House in New Orleans offers refuge, counseling and educational opportunities. These shelters also provide job training skills and help residents unearth their talents and passions to live a full life of freedom—both physically and spiritually.

They are precious. And they are loved.

HEALING HELP

Jacob, was severely underweight and was rapidly deteriorating. As a homeless orphan, his friends began rejecting him after his diagnosis with HIV.

When Send Relief partners met him at a medical kit distribution, Jacob was struggling to find the will to live. Now, after receiving the love and medical care he deserves, Jacob is a confident high schooler with a job and consistent support system.

A simple gift is what Jacob, and millions more like him around the world, need to start finding physical and spiritual healing.

DRINKING DEEP

“Water is life,” says Stephan, a grateful beneficiary of an East African water filter project.

Like his neighbors, Stephan does not have easy access to clean water near his home. As a result, many of these community members are frequently ill with preventable, water-borne illnesses, compromising their health, quality of life and ability to earn a steady income.

Students at a local Baptist university partnered with Send Relief to provide water filters to those in need.

They distributed more than 100 filters and impacted more than 1,500 people in several countries and communities—a tangible demonstration of the love of Christ and the power of the Living Water He freely offers to all.
